Resource available on the Ingham County
Historical Society's website include:

Ingham County Democrat Newspaper Index
1876–1915

This database indexes names of individuals found in death, burial, funeral notices, obituaries, notices of postmortems, murder trials and insurance payoffs. The index has been organized alphabetically by the first letter of the surname. The data fields include surname, given name, maiden name, newspaper date, and page and column numbers. The indexes are in PDF format. You will need Adobe Acrobat Reader to view them. Copies of articles may be ordered from the Society for a fee.

Maple Grove Cemetery, City of Mason, Ingham County

This database indexes burial permits, burial transit permits, disinterment and re-interment records for Maple Grove Cemetery from 1932 through 2005. There are 4,517 records in the database. The index has been organized alphabetically by the first letter of the surname. The data fields include last name and first name of the deceased, year the permit was issued (not a date of death), and the sequence number of permit. The indexes are in PDF format. You will need Adobe Acrobat Reader to view them. Copies of articles may be ordered from the Society for a fee.

Dobie Road Cemetery, Ingham County

As noted on the website, this cemetery is referred to as "Ingham County Home Cemetery (Ingham County Poor Farm)" in the "Michigan Cemetery Atlas," which was produced by the Library of Michigan. The data fields include two fields for grave location, first name, last name, birth year, death year and age at death (year, month, day).

ICGS PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE – APRIL 2011 NEWSLETTER

by Grove Sandrock, ICGS President

Sara Price has been unanimously approved by the ICGS Executive Board as your new Vice President. She was sworn in at the March meeting of the society. Sara replaces Robyn Sheely, who unfortunately found it necessary to resign last fall.

The Executive Board has been very busy over the past couple of months. Currently it is developing a campaign to increase ICGS membership. Details will be announced as they are finalized at a later date. In addition, the Board is making decisions about two other projects. One is an Index for Michigan Pioneer Records. The second will be an index for microfilm images of Ingham County News, 1935 to 1969.

ICGS members Julie Carr and Bill Carr initiated an indexing project involving Michigan Pioneer Records of the Library of Michigan. With the assistance of several members this project is nearly complete. Bill will be consulting with the Library of Michigan as to what is the preferred format of the index: paper or electronic. Once this determination is made the index will be produced. A copy of the index will be available in the ICGS Reference Room, although the records will remain at the Library of Michigan.

Previously ICGS had The Ingham County News for 1935 to 1969 microfilmed. This was funded by a grant from the Abrams Foundation. At this point Rod Jewett is obtaining cost estimates on having these images digitized. This would facilitate having the images indexed. Both Rod and Bill Carr have volunteered to complete the indexing phase.

The society has an extra set of microfilm of the Ingham County News for 1935 to 1969, in addition to that available in the ICGS Reference Room. This is 56 reels of microfilm. The Board is exploring various options of donating them or selling them to an appropriate repository. If they are sold, the proceeds could be used for additional microfilming or digitalizing projects. Action on this matter should occur in the next few months.

Members are encouraged to participate in our May 12 society meeting. We will be discussing our brick walls in genealogical research. Please come to the meeting and share your brick wall with the group. We will attempt to generate ideas to help you break down that wall!

Any member with a question, concern or suggestion can contact me by phone at (517) 337-8925 or by email at grovesandrock@yahoo.com.

Webberville

Grant VanHouten of Detroit visited his parents Mrs. and Mrs. John VanHouten here last week. Eddie VanOrden returned from Leslie Saturday, where he has been working in the roller mills. Rev. T. B. McGee commenced a series of revival meeting at the M. E. church last Monday assisted by Evangelist Moorhouse of Jackson.

W. Riker of Dansville was in town last Saturday.

Rev. Dinwoodle of Milford visited Rev McGee last Friday.

Stockbridge

Mrs. G. A. Rowe visited her parents in Wheatfield last week.

W. S. May, who is one of the grand jury at Mason, spent Sunday with his family here

Miss Nellie McArthur, aged 21 years, died at the home of her parents on Clinton street, Feb. 6th. Her funeral took place at the Baptist church, of which she was a member, on Feb. 9th, Rev. J. R. Andrews officiating. She was buried in the Oaklawn cemetery by the side of two brothers and one sister, who went before, all three in one week. Nellie was a devout christian and bore her sufferings with great fortitude.

We are pleased to state that little Charlie Park, who has been dangerously ill with pneumonia, is improving at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Smith, formerly of this place, but for the past two years at Grayling, are now nicely settled down in business at Fowlerville.

Orrin Sayles Sundayed with his brother at Plymouth.

J. K. Stanley and wife are visiting friends in Ann Arbor and Bucyrus, Ohio, for a few weeks.

There will be a Baptist mission tea at the residence of Mrs. Hicks Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs Hicks of St. Johns and Mr. and Mrs. Conklin of Cavanaugh spent Sunday with R. H. Mitteer and family.

W. G. Green is now employed in the bed spring factory of H. Haire.

Will Pearson, who has been visiting old friends here for the past week, returned to his home in Chicago last Saturday.

Ingham County Democrat, 3 May 1894, page 1

Frank Clark announces to those contemplating the purchase of a carriage or wagon that he will close out his stock at prices to suit purchasers.

A Lansingite named M. T. Kibby is endeavoring to raise a contingent of join Coxey's army. So far he has 26 pledged to go with him. The initials of the man will go far to prove that he is not too full.

ICD 3 May 1894 continued:

As my health has been failing for the last year and being desirous of leaving the country, I will sell all my real and personal property at a sacrifice. First come first served. H. J. Donnelly

Addo Hill of Alaideon reports a jersey heifer that dropped a calf the day before she was thirteen months old. The calf was poor and weak, but has done well. This is a record that will be hard to beat.

The weather last Saturday was rather against the opening at Ford's Bazaar, but a fine lot of goods was displayed for the occasion. The display of decorated goods in the east front window was very fine, many of them being from the brush of Miss Edna Ford.

C.F. Doying of Salt Lake City, Utah, a brother of Dr. J. O. Doying has located in this city for the purpose of practicing law. His office will be located in the Parkhurst block. Mr. Doying will move his family from Salt Lake in about six weeks.

Herman Willett shows us wool from his Lincoln sheep. A yearling ewe had wool 10 ½ inches long and her fleece weighed 10 lbs. The buck's fleece, a two year old, weighed 16 lbs and was 11 inches long.

A letter from Capt. Geo. A. Minar dated at the Soo last Thursday states that he is bound to Buffalo with a load of flour and that he has come in contact with considerable ice, but thinks his trials in that direction are over..

A. F. Wood, of Mason, Ingham county has sold to B. F. Sawyer of Dansville, Mich., the Shorthorn bull 4th Captain Argyle, by Springdale Wild Eyes 110305, dam miss Argyle 22nd by Lord Barrington Hillhurst 52431, tracing to Young Mary by Jupiter 2170. The Argyle branch of the Young Mary family is a noted one in this State, and one of the foundation families of the Curtis herd in Hillsdale county. Mr. Wood says this is the last bull he has old enough for service.

Ingham County Democrat, Thursday, 8 February 1894 page 1

Stockbridge Sun: We are sorry to learn that Gilson Standish, who is in the lumbering business up north had a leg badly crushed between two logs recently.

Last Monday afternoon Justice Ferguson united in marriage John Bishop of this city and Mrs. Mary DeCamp of Lansing. The ceremony took place at the residence of Chas. Bishop, a son of the groom.

Pat Hickey of Bunkerhill, who was arrested for the larceny of a horse, was discharged last Friday, at the suggestion of the prosecuting Attorney. Other considerations entered into the case to such an extent that Mr. Hickey was considered not very much too blame – Leslie Local

On Jan. 31st, 1894, an event of unusual interest occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Scoville, an old resident and a well-to-do farmer of White Oak. The occasion of the gathering was the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Alice C. Warfle to Orlando L. Topping of Dansville.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Austin of Dansville promptly at eight o'clock p.m. Quite a large gathering of the immediate relatives of the happy pair were present. After the ceremony the company were abundantly served to ice cream and cake, with fruit as dessert. The bride was arrayed in a beautiful golden brown silk trimmed with lace and orange blossoms. The happy couple left at a late hour with the best wishes of the company for their future home at Dansville, where they will be pleased at any time to welcome their many friends

NOTES FROM THE LIBRARIAN'S CORNER

By Diane Bishop

Recently some of us have been viewing a program on television called "Who Do You Think You Are?" The program follows various celebrities as they trace their roots regarding a particular family member. The program makes it appear that all of the researching happens very quickly and very easily. Modern technology does allow anyone the opportunity to key in a search query on the computer and find an answer in a relatively short time. But for some of us, our own personal efforts may not seem to happen as quickly as the television program indicates. Of course, we know the stars have lots of people working on this project with them. We also know that the stars are provided with access to expert historians and genealogists. This allows many of the supporting documents or evidence to appear more readily available for them to actually see in a much quicker time frame.

So, who do YOU think you are? Do you know? Are there stories about family members that keep coming up in conversations at family reunions, weddings, christenings, funerals or any other times that a family gathers together? Is there an insatiable desire to know where your family came from and where your roots are? Would you like to know if any of the stories or anecdotes you have heard over the years are really true? (I have heard through the years about a great-great Uncle that was part of a gunfight in downtown Mason. I was able to find the story in the newspaper to prove it really happened!)

Do you or other family members have pictures hanging on the wall or albums filled with lots of old pictures sitting on the shelf? Would you like to know more about the people in those pictures and how they are related to you? Are there scrapbooks filled with old newspaper clippings about people and events of a bygone time? Do you wonder why they have been so carefully clipped and placed in this book? Are there old letters and/or documents in a box in the attic? Have you ever wondered if any of these things are important to anyone now?

Questions. We all have them. As adults, our questions not only ask why, but who, where, how and when. If you feel the need to seek answers to any of the above questions, then you may have been "bitten" by the Genealogy Bug.

I believe that babies are the most wonderful way to "start" people. Babies are just beginning their adventure in this world and there are so many different paths for them to take. They will be influenced by the people around them and by the events that happen in their lifetime. Babies will begin to write their history with every breath they take. But, babies grow up fast and before we know it they are children with very inquisitive minds. As children begin to grow up they seem to constantly ask "Why". The adults in their lives try to patiently answer the multitude of questions that they ask. But eventually the adults have to admit that they don't know all of the answers. That is when the "Adult" decides that it is time for the child to learn how to find the answers for themselves.

So the child is taught how to begin searching for the answers to their questions by researching various forms of information that can be found all around them. The information may be available by asking another adult or in books found at home, at school, a government facility or the library. And of course, there is always the computer. As genealogists, we use these same methods to search for answers about our family history.

If we are lucky, we are provided with lots of resources that help us to find the answers to the question of “Who Am I?” Some of the things that we may have access to around our homes or those of close family members might be the Family Bible, abstracts or deeds to property that our family has owned, diaries, journals, school yearbooks, invitations to weddings, wedding books, birth announcements, baby books, newspaper articles, funeral cards and obituaries. We search through all of these items and record all of the pertinent information onto our family tree forms. These items can help answer our questions of why, who, where, how and when. But the answers to any of these questions always seems to push us towards additional questions which only gives us more answers which gives us more questions. It becomes a constant quest for more information. In essence, a never ending search for more answers.

To help us find more answers to our questions, we may eventually find ourselves at the local library. The library is a wonderful source of information and it has all kinds of “stuff” for the inquisitive mind. There are computers for researching on the internet, including the various genealogical sites that are available. There are lots of books on the shelves which include mysteries, adventures and histories. For some, those are the most enjoyable books to read. As a genealogist, we are all about history, adventure and mysteries. But we know that there are many other books and papers available to us that help us learn about the adventures and history that our families experienced and maybe solve the mystery surrounding a long lost relative.

Because we have been “bitten” by the genealogy bug, we seek out the area in the library that may have information regarding people, places and events from the past. The Mason Public Library has just such an area located in the back on the second floor. It is known as THE INGHAM COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY REFERENCE ROOM and the adjacent Newspaper Room (which has copies of the Ingham County News and The Ingham County Democrat newspapers from the Mason area). The Genealogy Room has so many wonderful pieces of information available for viewing and some of this information is not available anywhere else.

As the librarian for the Genealogy Reference Room, I would like to take you on a “tour” of our library. Each newsletter that follows will highlight something that our library has to offer to you - our genealogy friends and family. I hope that you will find it interesting and maybe decide that you would like to begin growing your own family tree(s) or maybe nurture the family tree(s) you have already started. If you have family members that like puzzles or mysteries or learning about history, then genealogy can be a wonderful family activity. Kids love using the computer and can quickly research many sites for missing information. They might even feel like a detective as they research the clues provided with each new piece of information you find. As your family tree begins to grow, you may all enjoy finding out Who You Really Are and if you are related to any famous people!

So I am very grateful for the television show that will hopefully spark an interest in genealogy in the young and old alike because they have found celebrities that are willing to have their ancestor researched and the results shown on national television. With all of the modern technology available to us and so much more information being digitized for our easy access, it may just be what is needed to get more people interested in this fascinating hobby. If it looks easy, they may decide to try it out. There is always the possibility that their quest could bring them to the library to find information not yet digitized somewhere.

I would also like to invite you to become a part of this newsletter by submitting an article about an ancestor in your own family research. Who knows, maybe there is someone reading our newsletter that may decide to find out how their ancestors fit into history. It could be really exciting for everyone to “read all about it!”

New website to try

Mocavo.com

A Genealogy Search Engine

Mocavo. Com is a genealogy search engine that is available to you at no charge. It searches hundreds of thousands of genealogy web sites, looking for the words that you specify. Web sites searched include thousands of genealogy message boards, society web pages, genealogy pages uploaded by individuals, stae historical societies, family societies, Finda-A-Grave, the Internet Archive (mostly scanned genealogy books from the Allen County Public Library), the Library of Congress, several sites containing scanned images of old photographs, and tens of thousands of distinct sites that contain various transcribed records of genealogical interest.

Unlike other search engines, Mocavo.com limits its searches solely to genealogy sites. Searches on Mocavo.com are not limited to names. As with any other search engine, you can search for towns, states, occupations, relatives, or any other text information you think might be included with an ancestor's name. Whatever you specify, the search will be limited to pages on genealogy web sites.

At this time, Mocavo.com finds mostly North American Genealogy information.

The following was taken from Eastman's Online Genealogy Newsletter, Tuesday, March 15, 2011.
